

ANOTHER BLOW AT WAR TIME DRY LAW

Federal Judge Evans At Louisville, Holds Distillers May Dispose of Floor Stocks

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Nov. 13.—Judge Walter Evans, in Federal District Court, today in an effort for the second time to hold war time prohibition unconstitutional, sustained an attack upon the Volstead enforcement act and granted an injunction, restraining Kentucky federal authorities from interfering with the sale by two Louisville distillers of whisky floor stocks. The government immediately took an appeal to the Federal Circuit Court at Cincinnati and announced its intention of asking for supersedeas to stay the operation of the injunction. In the way is open, it is said, for Wright and Layter, and Brown and Forman, the plaintiffs in the action, to dispose of their floor stocks. They are quoted as saying, however, in view that the constitutionality of war time prohibition has not yet been decided by the Supreme Court, they are undecided on their course.

Louisville's Wet Vote Increases

Louisville, Nov. 13.—Official figures given out by the Jefferson County Election Commission increased the "wet" majority in Louisville and Jefferson county by 2,116 votes, the total majority against the amendment being 24,963.
Previous reports from 97 counties had shown the "drys" to be leading by approximately 10,000 votes, but the liberal leaders here say that the discrepancy shown between official and unofficial figures very speedily may erase the lead of the drys. Dry leaders express no fear of the outcome.

W. C. T. U. Not To Start Anti-Tobacco Fight Yet

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 13.—Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, head of the Kentucky W. C. T. U., who is one of the delegates from Kentucky to the national victory jubilee convention at St. Louis November 15 to 20, said today she did not think a campaign against tobacco would be started at the jubilee convention, as was considered probable by the tobacco men. Mrs. Beauchamp said, however, that if the use of cigarettes increased on continued at the present rate it was likely "the tobacco program of the W. C. T. U. would be enlarged."
Mrs. Beauchamp said that heretofore the anti-narcotic campaign of the W. C. T. U. had been confined to the obtaining of instruction in the public schools in regard to the effects of narcotics.

The farm contains 630 acres and lies between Kirksville and Hyattsville. Mr. Hamilton paid Luther Gibbs $100,000 for it a few months ago. He cut it up in eight tracts and realized $133,000 for the whole. A Mr. Sanders paid $301 an acre for the home place of 100 acres, containing the residence. Washington, Nov. 13.—There is to be no compromise with the Russian Bolsheviks by the United States and no movement is contemplated which could be considered as offering to confer with the Bolshevik element it is learned today at the State Department that our attitude is the same now as last year when Secretary Lansing termed the Bolsheviks outlaws.

Here, There, Everywhere

At Paris within the next few weeks a large force of miners will be put to work in the lead mines on the R. B. Marsh farm, which, after laying idle for many years, has been reopened.
At Beattyville every man and boy who could get a boat has been gathering pumpkins and kershaws on the river during the highest tide in many years.

At Ashland, Buster, an Airedale, caught a midnight thief on the wharfboat Courier, holding him by the leg, but the man jumped overboard before Sol Miller, wharfmaster, could procure a weapon.
At Danville a shipment of automobile tires for Irvine tumbled in front of a passenger train, but blowouts were not attended by usual disaster.

At Danville J. B. Williams and A. E. Willis bought the interests of B. F. and Harry Robinson in the Willis-Robertson Motor Co.
At Winchester Patton Albert and Robert Miller, schoolboys, each broke an arm while at play at the city school.

Then all will have for all they do More pay!
And though we'll then pay higher yet For everything we buy, you bet! Who'll care, since all of us will get More pay?

SEEK TO PREVENT TREATY FILIBUSTER

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Nov. 13.—The petition to limit debate on the peace treaty by invoking a Senate cloture rule, was presented in the Senate today by Democratic Leader Hitchcock. It bore the signature of 22 democratic Senators, who favor ratification without reservations. This action was taken to head off a probable filibuster against the treaty.
The petition, however, was laid on the table on motion of Republican Leader Lodge that it was out of order and the attempt failed 44 to 36.

REDS STARTING TROUBLE AT MINES

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Nov. 13.—Activities of radicals, threaten serious trouble in the soft coal mine fields of West Virginia, according to reports received today by the Department of Justice. The situation in Monongal and Taylor counties is described as "particularly nasty." Meetings directed and largely attended by Russians precipitated some violence among the coal miners, the report said.
There were few details in the Department's message but it was indicated the work of the Russians was directed in intimidating miners who sought to return to work after the withdrawal of the coal strike order. Government agents are instructed to closely watch all mine fields for similar trouble.

GALVANI MADE BIG HIT AT PARIS

The Paris News had this to say of Galvani the famous hypnotist, who comes to Richmond Friday and Saturday. With the exception of Paris' own Edward Boone, no hypnotist has ever scored a success here equal to that of Galvani, who opened an engagement at the Grand Opera House, Wednesday night, to an audience which filled every available inch of space and overflowed into the lobby. Galvani's work is different from that of any hypnotist ever seen here, and we have had many. His introductory remarks are to the point; he takes the audience into his confidence, disillusionizing them of many of the popular but false ideas of the mystic art, explaining to them in language the most illiterate can understand.
Galvani's mind reading tests were done in a manner that convinced the most skeptical of his extraordinary powers. In his hypnotic tests he does away with the time-killing and boring play of many so-called artists in his line, and works quick, and with convincing results. It is safe to say that on Wednesday night he convinced many skeptical persons in the audience of the reality of hypnotism, and while his performance is amusing in the extreme, it also tends to give cause for deep thought on the part of the student of human nature.

Gov. Black Pardons Hero Sandlin's Brother

Complying with the request of the father, mother, brothers and sisters of Arthur Jones, who was killed by Charles Sandlin, of Leslie county, Governor Black Wednesday pardoned Sandlin, who was convicted in February of this year for manslaughter and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years. The killing was accidental.
Sandlin is a brother of Sergeant Willie Sandlin, who is connected with the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission and who was awarded the congressional medal the French Croix de Guerre and other medals for bravery. Charles Sandlin was honorably discharged from the army in 1918 because of physical disability. At one time five of the Sandlin brothers were in the army.

Wash Hensley, of Haglan county, who served a sentence in the penitentiary for manslaughter and who is out on parole, was pardoned by the Governor.

Morrow Will Probably "Take Care" of Him, Now

Frankfort, Ky., November 13.—Ernest J. Howell, of Owensboro, former Superintendent of the Reform School at Greendale, and for several months an employee of the Motor Vehicle Department, has been dismissed from that department.
Two reasons were assigned for the dismissal of Howell. The first is that there was nothing for him to do. The second is that he is accused of having taken from the Reform School duplicate of a bill for the sale of cloth to the State Board of Control for the use of the inmates of the institution.
This sale figured very largely in the recent state campaign. Howell gave out a statement exposing the sale of cloth to the board by Armstrong & Co., of Louisville, which was alleged to have been sold at a very high figure, and which now is being investigated by the Fayette County Grand Jury.

GAME SEASON OPENS NEXT SATURDAY

District Game Warden Sam J. Embry, was over from Stanford last week and appointed Wm. Winkler, a deputy game warden for Madison county. The game season opens next Saturday, Nov. 15th and the game wardens will be on the job to see that the game laws are obeyed. In many portions of the State quail are reported to have increased in numbers because of the open winter last year and the fact that the war took men from their hunting.
The season is already open on ducks and jack snipe, having opened on September 16. It will continue to December 31, except in the case of the squirrel season, which opened July 1 and will close December 16th. The seasons is closed on doves.
While there is no limit to the rabbit "bag" no more than 12 quail may be brought down at one shooting. Twenty-five is the bag limit on ducks and jack snipes. There is no bag limit on rabbits.

Democrats To Help Make Gala Occasion of Inauguration

Frankfort, Ky., November 13.—Although the inauguration of Governor-elect Edwin P. Morrow and Lieutenant Governor-elect Thurston Ballard will be strictly a Republican affair, Democrats have not been excluded by any means. The Republicans have invited Mayor W. S. Rosson, Chief of Police Mangin, General W. P. D. Haly, Scott Thompson, President of the Chamber of Commerce, J. Swigert Taylor, John Noel, President of the Farmers' Deposit Bank; Circuit Judge Robert L. Stout and Major C. W. Longmire, all Democrats to assist in the arrangements for the inauguration.
On account of the destruction of the largest hotel in this city by fire two years ago it is feared that the impression might prevail that Frankfort cannot accommodate the largest inauguration day crowd. If such an impression does prevail it must be corrected, those in charge of the affair say, for there are ample accommodations in the hotels and private homes that will be thrown open to accommodate even much larger inauguration day crowds than visited here in the past.

WHAT IS A FARM?

Seems a foolish question to ask doesn't it? Almost anyone can tell off-hand just what a farm is and knows one when he sees it.

But do you happen to know the interpretation Uncle Sam places on the word "farmer" for census purposes? No? Then read how his Bureau of the Census defines the word:

"A farm for census purposes is all the land which directly farmed by one person conducting agricultural operations, either by his own labor or with the assistance of members of his household or hired employees."

In further explanation of this definition the Census Bureau points out that the term "agricultural operations" is used as a general term referring to the work of growing crops, producing other agricultural products and raising domestic animals, poultry or bees.

From this definition it will be seen that a farm may consist of a single tract of land or of a number of separate and distinct tracts. And these several tracts may be held under different tenures, as, for instance, when one tract is owned by the farmer and another is rented by him. Thus if a man who owns 100 acres and rents an additional 10 acres from some one else and operates both the 100 acres and the ten acres, then his "farm" including both tracts of land comprising 110 acres.

By the same token a land owner has one or more tenants renters, croppers or managers, each different tract of land operated by any such tenant, renter, cropper or manager is considered a separate and distinct farm by the Census Bureau. Or, to give an example, if a man owning 120 acres of land, rents 40 acres to a tenant and farms the remaining 80 acres himself, his farm is the 80 acres which he operates, not the 120 acres which he owns, while the 40-acre tract which he rents to a tenant comprises a separate farm to be reported in the name of the tenant.

Another question to be determined is how important does an agricultural enterprise have to be in order to secure recognition in the census as a farm? A small vegetable garden or a chicken yard accommodating a few busy hens will not be allowed to qualify as a "farm" in the census no matter with what pardonable pride and satisfaction the proprietor may view his agricultural enterprise.

But if the garden or chicken yard expands until it covers not less than three acres of ground, or until it requires for its care the continuous services of at least one person, or yields products annually to the value of $250 or more, it comes within the census definition of a farm and will be recognized as such and counted.

The agriculture schedule contains many questions regarding farm values, expenses and live stock as well as the acreage and quantity of crops raised in the year 1919. Census Bureau officials are urging the farmers everywhere to prepare for the census enumerator by looking over their books and records so that accurate answers may be furnished to questions.

In this connection the Bureau of the Census emphasizes the fact that information furnished to census takers is absolutely confidential, made so by Act of Congress, and that under no circumstances can any such information be used as a basis for taxation.

"Co-operation between farmers and the census officials next January is more necessary and vital than ever before," declares Director of the Census Sam L. Rogers. "The world war and the part that the farmer played in it and will continue to play in the rehabilitation of Europe serve to make the agriculture section of the Fourteenth Decennial Census the most important in the nation's history. Absolute accuracy and completeness in the census returns is the goal toward which every citizen should strive."

HOOVER EXPLAINS THE SUGAR SHORTAGE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—With continued Federal control of sugar and a more stringent allocation of sugar supplies in sight in the recent testimony of Herbert Hoover, former food administrator, before the Johnson sub-committee investigating war expenditures threw an interesting side-light on the administration's policy with regard to sugar both during and since the war. During the war it was absolutely necessary to control the sugar supply and since that time President Wilson has been advised by followers of two different schools of economic action. The administration has followed the advice that recommended control and consequently assured low prices. Recommendation has now been made for further control and allocation by the chairman of the United States Sugar Equalization Board.

Of the two theories advanced one class of advisors recommended to the President that the ban of Federal control and international agreement be lifted and in its place unrestrained competition for the Cuban and other important crops be allowed. This would mean that the highest bidder among the nations would get the available crops, but the consumer would have to pay the price of this competition. There was no prediction as to how high sugar might go under this plan. The other plan was to continue Federal control and international buying and allocation, permitting purchase at a reasonable price, and thus keeping sugar, even during war and shortage period, as low as ten and eleven cents a pound. This was the course pursued by the government.

Congressman Bland, junior Republican member of the committee, had Mr. Hoover called before the committee to inquire whether or not the sugar given away for relief abroad and sold to foreign governments through the A. E. F. and the army sales agency in France was not responsible for the present sugar shortage. Mr. Hoover hastened to disabuse the minds of the committee on this point, declaring that the cause of the present shortage was an increased consumption of sugar on the part of the American people. This increase, beginning in the spring of this year, and apparently aggravated by prohibition, according to the witness, has risen from a normal of 73 pounds per year per person to 93 pounds per person. The highest known consumption heretofore, Mr. Hoover stated, has been 84 pounds per person.

Getting down to specific questions Mr. Hoover assured the committee that there was consumed every day in the United States a little over six million pounds of sugar for the manufacture of candy alone. This he said was the approximate amount of sugar given by the United States relief commission to the stricken countries abroad. Speaking of the sugar given to Russian prisoners he declared that this country had given away only one-twentieth of one day's candy making supply to the Russians. Congressman Bland tried to

You have to wear clothes; and somebody has to supply them. Like everything else you buy, the prices are higher than they used to be; but when you have to have a thing, you have to pay the price of it.

We've got a lot of fine clothes here that would cost us now, at wholesale, if we had to buy them now, a good deal more than we paid for them. But our prices don't advance with the wholesale; we sell as we bought then, not as if we bought now.

F. abroad, amounting he said to approximately 32,000,000 pounds, but his attention was again called to the fact that this amounted only to several days candy supply in this country and most of that sold or given away went to adults and children nearly starved.

Following the hearing the question arose informally of controlling cold storage activities in the process of food delivery from producer to consumer. Mr. Hoover suggested control within cold storage circles rather than a too stringent Federal control. He pointed to the success of the government's control of the Chicago grain market by allowing the Board of Trade to legislate for its members. He pointed out that cold storage is a necessary forward step to take care of produce from the time it actually comes into production until such time as it is needed for consumption, but he declared that some steps ought to be taken to legislate out of existence the ability of speculators to buy storage receipts, and without any actual turnover of goods to advance food prices through mere speculative investments and sales.

The Newspapers' Serious Situation

The newspaper of this country have been giving the public a great deal of information about the sugar shortage, coal shortage, and shortages in many other supplies but have been saying nothing of their own troubles.

A great anxiety exists, however, among publishers great and small, about the famine in news print, and the rapidly mounting price of this commodity. Now the International Paper company, which supplies more than 65 per cent of all the news print used in the United States, has notified a large number of its customers that it cannot supply them any newsprint whatever in 1920. Among the papers so notified are the Evansville Courier, Nashville Banner, Little Rock Democrat, Birmingham News and many others throughout the south. The publisher of the Messenger attended a meeting in Nashville this week of 18 publishers, more than half of whom had been notified that they could get no paper next year from the International, which has been supplying them for years. These publishers have been vainly looking for two weeks for other mills to take their contracts for 1920 tonnage. They meet no encouragement. They can only buy on the spot market in New York at $6.50 and $16.75 per one hundred pounds and only in limited quantities. The price the past year has been $3.75 f. o. b. the mills 10 per cent more than before the war. No publisher in the United States can now find paper at that price. Every mill in the country, save the one that we have heard of, is withholding any quotations for 1920, and that mill has sold of its tonnage.

The great Chicago Tribune has announced that because of the paper famine—and the Tribune owns a paper mill in Canada, taking its entire product and buying more on this open market—it would be compelled to limit the size of its editions and called upon its advertisers to use smaller space.

Coming nearer home, the Henderson Gleaner has announced that it was now having to go into the spot market and pay $6.50 per hundred pounds in Canada and will feel lucky if it gets paper at that price. It announces a raise in its mail subscription price from November 1, giving subscribers outside the first zone three day's notice. It also announces an increase in its advertising rates.

Newspapers all over the country when their present stocks are exhausted, will have to follow this policy or go out of business. The Messenger has enough paper in stock and in transit to last until the end of the year. At present rates the Messenger is losing money on its mail subscription price and will be compelled next year to follow the plan of raising the price. Many other expenses in newspaper making have also increased so enormously that publishers are seeing a dark future, but the paper famine is of such serious import that absolute suspension of publication may become necessary in some instances. They cannot get enough paper at any price to continue.—Owensboro Messenger.

GIRLS DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Let "Danderine" save your hair and double its beauty

Oh, girls such an abundance of thick, heavy, invigorated hair; a perfect mass of wavy, silky hair, gloriously fluffy, bright and so easy to manage.

Just moisten the cloth with a little "Danderine" and carefully draw it through your hair; taking one small strand at a time; this magically removes all dirt, excess oil and grease, but your hair is not left brittle, dry, stringy, or faded, but charmingly soft, with glossy, golden gleams, and tender light. The youthful glints, tints and color are again in your hair.

"Danderine" is a tonic beautifier. Besides doubling the beauty of the hair at once, it checks dandruff and stops falling hair. Get delightful Danderine for a few cents at any drug or toilet counter and use it as a dressing and invigorator as told on bottle.

Engagement Announced

An engagement which will be of interest here, where the bride is exceedingly popular, was made in Macon, Georgia, this week. Rev. Rutherford Douglas and Mrs. Douglas announce the engagement of their only daughter, Drusilla to Chas. M. Powell, Jr., of Atlanta. The wedding will take place in the early spring.

A Beautiful Wedding

The marriage of Miss Amelia Clay VanMeter, of this county and Captain Jack Rogers, of Texas, was beautifully solemnized Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at "The Pines" the country estate of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. James H. Holloway. Dr. William Cummings in an impressive manner performed the ceremony, which was witnessed only by the immediate members of the families. The bride who is one of the most beautiful young women in Kentucky was charmingly attired in a Devote blue traveling suit with becoming hat, her bouquet was of Ward roses. The young couple selected Armistice day for their wedding, because of its patriotic significance. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. L. VanMeter, and is one of the most prominent young women of the state. Added to many accomplishments she has a voice of rarest sweetness and her charm. Following the ceremony a delightful luncheon was served after which Captain and Mrs. Rogers left for their home in Texas.

Entertained at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Baker entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of Rev. Edward Lawson, of Georgetown. Those included were Mr. and Mrs. Theo Cotton and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Ensminger, of Bloomington, Ill., and Mr. John Horn.

Hudler-Schlegel

Mrs. Lewis Schlegel received a message from her son Joe, Schlegel, who has recently been mustered out of the service that he was married this week to Miss Laura Hudler, of Rockford, Ill. This will be a pleasant surprise to the numerous friends of the groom here who extend heartiest congratulations to him and his bonnie bride. They will for the present make their home in Sioux City, Iowa, where the groom has a splendid position.

Covington-Holladay

A quiet but very pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride, near Waco Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Katherine Covington and Mr. Joe Holladay, of Winchester, were united in marriage by Dr. E. C. McDougle. Only the members of the bride's immediate family and two of her closest friends, Misses Ida Blanton and Lucy Thorpe were present for the wedding. The bride is the younger daughter of Mrs. Robert Covington, and has a legion of friends to wish her much joy, and congratulate the groom on his choice of a helpmate. The couple left for a short motor trip and on their return will probably make their home with the brides mother for the next year.

Miss Irene Baker spent Monday in Lexington.
Mrs. Joel Park spent Wednesday in Lexington.

Corns 'Tween Toes? Use Easy "Gels-It"

Any Corn Peel Off With "Gels-It"

right off just like a banana peel. You can try to dig or drag out your corns with a knife, or slice them with a "bloody" razor, or use bandages and tape and wrap up your toes into a package, but that's the "treat-em-rough" painful, foolish way. Use 2 or 3 drops of "Gels-It"—that's the peaceful, sure, common-sense way that never fails. You reach the corn easily with the little glass rod in the cork of every "Gels-It" bottle. It does not hurt the true flesh. Try it, trot and smile! It's a blessing; never fails. "Gels-It" is the only sure, guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfd by E. Health About Gone

Many thousands of women suffering from womanly trouble, have been benefited by the use of Cardui, the woman's tonic, according to letters we receive, similar to this one from Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Hayne, N. C. "I could not stand on my feet, and just suffered terribly," she says. "As my suffering was so great, and he had tried other remedies, Dr. — had us get Cardui. . . I began improving, and it cured me. I know, and my doctor knows, what Cardui did for me, for my nerves and health were about gone."

TAKE

The Woman's Tonic

She writes further: "I am in splendid health . . . can do my work. I feel I owe it to Cardui, for I was in dreadful condition." If you are nervous, run-down and weak, or suffer from headache, backache, etc., every month, try Cardui. Thousands of women praise this medicine for the good it has done them, and many physicians who have used Cardui successfully with their women patients, for years, endorse this medicine. Think what it means to be in splendid health, like Mrs. Spell. Give Cardui a trial.

Plans for the work in the Eastern Kentucky district, of which Gov. Harris has accepted the leadership, were outlined by Dr. J. S. Lock, Executive Secretary of the State Tuberculosis Association, and State Campaign Director M. B. Thweatt, of Louisville. Assurance was given of the hearty support of the people of Eastern Kentucky, who have always been generous in the purchase of the Red Cross Christmas Seals. "Not Demobilized Until He Has A Job"

Uncle Sam's big job of finding jobs for all demobilized soldiers and sailors is now on a post-war basis. The central office is in Washington, and there are branch offices in Boston, New York, Indianapolis, and San Francisco, which maintain a force of field representatives who travel supervising the work and keeping in touch with the 3,300 soldier employment bureaus scattered throughout the United States. A double duty is now put upon the War Department, for the reason that the United States Employment Service has practically ceased functioning, because of lack of funds. Gen. W. G. Haan, now in charge, has recast the entire personnel, and in addition to a force of commissioned officers who are experts, he has the services of thousands of volunteers and dollar-a-year men, as well as all the welfare organizations. The latter have not only contributed liberally of their funds, but have also given the use of their buildings, office furniture, and paid employees.

"No service man will be considered demobilized until a job has been found for him," declares General Haan.

With the coming of winter men who have been taking life easy will now seek employment. In thousands of other cases men who have had seasonal occupation will require a new job. Then there are those who took anything they could find when they left the army, and who are now looking about to adjust themselves into something more suited to their ambitions and capacities. All these men will be cared for, and any others who from time to time may need employment. There is an employment bureau of some kind in
